Information

The estate of Versailles

You are about to visit the Palace and gardens of Versailles, which count among the most prestigious of the world's heritage sites and represent the finest and most accomplished achievement of 17th century French art. King Louis XIII's former hunting lodge was transformed and enlarged by his son Louis XIV, who installed his court and government there. The town that was built around the Palace bears witness to this rich period of French History.

Plan your day out discovering all the splendours of Versailles thanks to the range of possibilities available. Visit all the different parts of the Palace freely: King's and Queen's State Apartments, Chapel and Opera House, History of France Galleries, Dauphin's Apartments (the heir to the throne) and at weekends Mesdames' Apartments (Louis XV's daughters). Then walk through the gardens and groves to the Grand Trianon and Marie-Antoinette's Estate.

MARIE-ANTOINETTE'S ESTATE

The creation of "Marie-Antoinette's Estate" is part of the "Grand Versailles" project that aims most notably to show Versailles' contrasts: Classical and Baroque, destitution and extravagance, male inspiration from Louis XIV and female inspiration from Marie-Antoinette to Madame de Pompadour, to name just a few. The Petit Trianon and its gardens are inseparably linked from Marie-Antoinette: she was the only queen who imposed her personal tastes on Versailles, scoffing at Court traditions. In the Trianon estate, which Louis XVI gave to her in 1774, she found a haven of privacy that allowed her to escape from the rigours of Court Étiquette.

The Marie-Antoinette's Estate and the Grand Trianon are open every day, except on some French public holidays and during official ceremonies:

3 April - 31 October 2007

Access to the Petit Trianon, Chapel, French Pavilion, Queen's Theatre, Belvedere, Temple of Love, Grotto, Landscaped Garden, Refreshments Dairy, Queen's Hamlet and Farm:
12 noon to 7.30pm
(access to indoor areas until 6pm)

Access to the Grand Trianon:

12 noon to 6.30pm
(last admission: 6pm)

tickets sold until 5.45pm

1 November 2007 - 31 March 2008

Access to the Grand Trianon:
12 noon to 5.30pm
(last admission: 5pm)
Petit Trianon Gardens open for walks all day.
